

Abstract

OPTIMIZATION OF THE TRAFFIC LOAD IN A COMMUNICATION NETWORK

A cost-effective and efficient way of optimizing the traffic load in a communication network. A method and apparatus optimize the traffic load in a telecommunication and/or data network with a plurality of network elements which are functionally essentially independent. The presence and availability of a user of a service are taken as a basis for granting a release for a data transmission.